

AUTOPLANT

A Poetic Monologue by Phillip Bannowsky

Chrysler's now closed assembly plant in Newark comes back to life in a tale of redemption and rebellion on the assembly line.

“. . . writes with authority and insight into the factory world. . . . funny, irreverent, and touching.” –Jim Daniels, author of Places Everyone and Revolt of the Crash-Test Dummies.

“You could call it performance art, an epic comic monologue or high-tech narrative poetry” –Gary Soulsman, News Journal

All Tickets $10

From Sept. 1 on line at www.fringewilmingtonde.com
At box office during festival at 605 N. Market St., Wilmington

4W5

4 W. 5th St.

Thursday, October 1st at 8:30 pm

Saturday, October 3rd at 6 pm

Sunday, October 4 at 3:00 pm